Come learn about the exciting sport of Para-Equestrian Dressage, an FEI-level equestrian discipline created for riders with disabilities who compete from the local grassroots to the Olympic levels of equestrian competition. Dressage competitions for riders with disabilities started in Scandinavia and in Great Britain in the 1970s, culminating into a formal discipline at the Olympic Games. Now, the United States Para-Equestrian Association (USPEA) - a non-profit affiliate of the United States Equestrian Federation (USEF) - is committed to fostering the development of horses and riders throughout the country through a variety of educational programming.
